

UNCLE OOJAH'S

"I can't wake Uncle Oojah up,"

Said Jerry with a sigh,

"I'll bring in the loud-speaker
And have another try."

He gave his uncle such a start,
He fell flat on the floor.

And groaned,

"Oh! Jerrywangle, don't—Dare do that any more."

"It wasn't Unkie Jerry's fault," Piped baby Binky. "No —
"You wouldn't wake! it isn't fair
Of you to scare us so."

GRAN'PA CLOCK

"No," nodded Uncle Oojah,
"It's my poor forgetful head,
Last night I wound myself up — and
Put my clock to bed."

And so you see, to-day,
my dears,

I don't feel very bright,
For in the hall I had to stand,
And tick-tock all the night!"
